

Let's create something fresh!

portfolio

Jubilee Austen Project

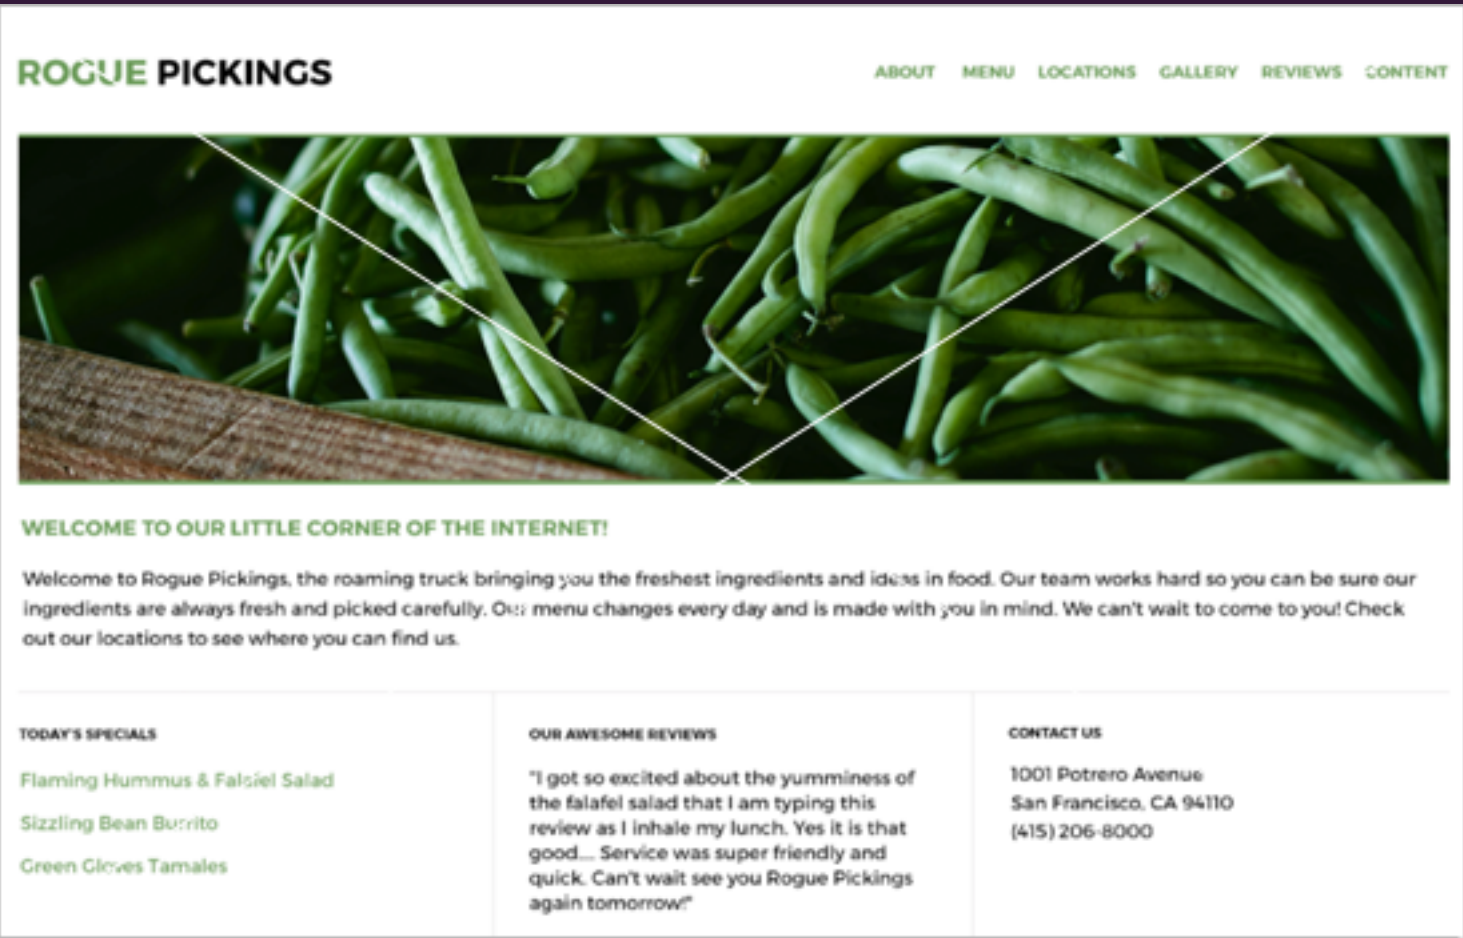

HTML 5 & CSS Website

This little website was fun and pretty straight forward. It shows how clean but effective a one-page site like this can be.

Rogue Pickings Website

HTML & CSS from Photoshop Design Comp

The design for this one added a few more dimensions to a company profile. It features more detail to the fonts and the landscaping layout give it an interesting visual look.

Recipe Collection

HTML 5 & CSS Exercise

This is a presentation that took on a whole other level above the previous designs. It's not just the format of recipe cards that make it stand out, but a much more detailed design that infuses graphics and text in a creatively informative and followable layout.

about

My name is Greg Luce. I'm actually a full-time musician and DJ doing gigs at all sorts of venues along with private parties and weddings. I've been doing it for a long, long time and I love it, but my new passion has become coding and website development!

I have a wife, two young kids and a crested gecko as a pet. Guess what our gecko's name is? That's right: it's Tornado (ask me about the backstory). I wish I played poker full-time, but I'll have to keep up my skill at crushing the competition, a.k.a my 11 and 9 year-old.

I'm a hard worker that strives to get all the details right until it's perfect! My planning wizardry focuses on streamlining in completing the final result.

contact

Hire me

817.487.0886
info@aechelon.online

Follow me

Meet me

Dallas/Fort Worth Area
Online: anywhere